Proposed Modification of the Law Taxing the Proceeds of the Mines.

[Carson Appeal, February 15th.]

I yesterday showed the gross inequality of the present law taxing the proceeds of the mines and the injustice wrought by it to the owners of other property. Incredibly as it may appear it is now proposed to amend the present law to operate still more favorably to the mine owners. At present the law taxing the proceeds of the mines aims to tax the proceeds after deducting the cost of production. It is now proposed to establish an arbitrary per cent. which in all cases shall be taken as the cost of production. For illustration it is proposed to exempt sixty per cent. of the value of ores milling less than one hundred dollars, and fifty per cent. of ores milling more than one hundred dollars per ton. Thus exempting fifty-nine dollars and forty cents of ninety-nine dollar ore, and five hundred dollars of one thousand dollar ore. The proposed modification will exempt fully one-half of that part of the proceeds now subject to taxation and reduce the revenues from that source in an equal proportion. The result in point of equality will be, that the citizen who owns no mining property will pay nearly forty times as much tax in proportion to his wealth, as the non-resident owning mines in this State. But ignoring the gross inequality and injustice of the proposition, how do the members of the Legislature stand as to their pledges with the people? Have any promises been made which require fulfillment, and which it would be dishonorable to violate? When the Republican Convention met in Carson in August last, this resolution was adopted:

Seventh—Whereas, in all just governments the principles of equalization are recognized as best calculated to protect the different prosperities and industries of the community from invidious discrimination; and whereas, it is eminently just and proper that the mining industries of the State should bear their proportionate part of the burdens of taxation; and, whereas, the Constitution requires the taxation of all property within the State, and directly authorizes the taxation of the proceeds of the mines; and, whereas, the present method of ascertaining values for the assessment of the proceeds of the mines is not oppressive to that interest, and does not in any manner discriminate against such interest; therefore, the Republican party is opposed to any repeal or change of the present law providing for the taxation of the net proceeds of the mines, looking to any different method of arriving at values for the purpose of taxation. But if a reduction of the rate of taxation can be made with safety to the interests of the State, in order to meet the necessary wants of State and county governments, then the proceeds of the mines should share alike with the real estate and personal property of the State in the benefits of such reduction.

The State Democratic Convention adopted a resolution of similar import, and the County Conventions (with the exception of White Pine) voted with the State Conventions in expressing opposition to a repeal.

or a modification of the tax on bullion. Upon these resolutions the canvass was made and the people were given to understand that the present law taxing the proceeds of the mines should stand without repeal or modification. Nor yet is this all: The mining corporations now seeking to enforce the proposed further exemptions, through the press and by their agents and attorneys everywhere, gave it out that they would seek no modification of the law and abide by and stand to the existing method of taxation.

In the face of these assurances, supplemented in most cases by the direct personal pledges of candidates, can it be possible that the members of the Legislature will seriously entertain the measure under consideration. To do so would be an act of perfidy which would consign them to obloquy and contempt. R. M. CLARKE.

A handsome boy boarded for a year in a Nashville hotel, and conducted a sewing machine agency. He was active and successful in business, and a pet of the women, with whom he was fond of associating. His youthfulness insured him more freedom with them than would have been accorded an older beau; but one day he hugged and kissed a chambermaid, and was complained of to the landlord. At this point in the story the pronoun "he" must be changed to "she," for the offender confessed to being a woman in boy's clothes. She said that being compelled to earn her own living, she learned by experience that her sex was a detriment. So she took to trousers, and in that guise she not only did better in business, but was able to bamboozle the women.

Accidents are punishable with death in Turkey. The Government whipped an editor to death there recently for telling the truth.

The number of able-bodied men in New York out of employment is estimated at 50,000.

Our Crucifixion.

Nailed to the Political Cross by a Democratic Pontius Pilate.

In our morning column appears a fine specimen of English prose, weighed down by honest purpose, and devoted to the correction of our errors. The communication is prefaced by a paragraph written by the Journal, which is intended to excuse the folly and absurdity of that paper's course in publishing such a dead letter. A few days ago some very malicious and personal resolutions were published, and we took occasion to show their origin, and the motive which dictated to their author. It seems that our comments were scarcely palatable, on account of their accuracy, and the gentleman who signs himself "Democrat" has concluded to crucify us.

This communication was written for the purpose of casting obstacles in the way of the Prison Appropriation bill. The writer wants to defeat the measure because he has suffered a partial defeat himself. Now, although he can readily obtain the use of the Journal's columns, even for a reprint of Mother Goose's Melodies, we advise him to make his mark beneath future communications, so that the county may know him, and that the Democrat may not be forced to shoulder his personal acts.

The history of the appropriation during the present session, has been as follows: Washoe county was supposed to be a unit in favor of a reasonable appropriation. The State had been swindled out of the Carson property, and our people believed that Governor Bradley and his party were acting upon the highest motives in removing the Prison. No thought was taken of men or conditions, and in view of the general proposition of right these matters were left to arrange themselves.

It was asserted that the Democracy had done this, and that, through the Prison Bill of four years ago. Our representatives, looking at the main question, in view of the Republican majority in the Legislature, without believing these charges, consented to change the Board upon the advice of Democrats who were interested in seeing the measure pass. Soon after this, Mr. S. F. Hoole arrived in Carson, and declared war against the bill as introduced. Everything which could be done he did to defeat the bill, or name a man on the Committee. Mr. J. C. Hagerman, whose cause Hoole advocated, has assured us that such action was not agreeable to him, and it would seem that this should have settled the matter. The Senate Committee met, and three Democratic Senators favoring the bill, all reported in favor of the Republican Board. When this was known, Mr. Hoole came to Reno, got a few Democrats together, and offered the resolutions before spoken of, with no other purpose than to prejudice Democrats against the bill. We believe, however, that fair-minded Democrats and Republicans alike, can see that the question is one of right and State interest, and will decide upon that ground. We believe that Democrats inaugurated the movement with the purest motives, and will carry it forward in the interests of the State.

The change was not a blow at the Democracy, but simply an attempt to give a Democratic measure its proper strength, and show that, having begun the work, the Democracy would work for it upon merits alone. The leading Democrats in the Senate have long ago taken this view, and work not for persons and conditions, but for what they conceive to be right.

In answer to "Democrat's" "material facts," we will simply say that the only discordant element introduced into the measure came from a Washoe county Democrat, and for the rest of his fair logical argument we simply ask him what he is working for—what is the great difference? The Democrats in the Senate are satisfied; why is not Sir Democrat? Does he want to defeat the entire measure? If not, what particular personal interest will a Democratic Board subserve for him? He must plainly see that his struggles avail naught, and from the action of Garrard, Westerfield and Cassidy, he does not represent the Democracy. We know that he does not represent Washoe county; then what is he after?

We have only noticed his effusion day in pushing business, and would have continued in session this evening

Washoe county is willing to allow the prison question to be decided as the State's interests shall dictate, and in regard to this crucifixion matter, if "Democrat" will wait until the Prison bill has been passed upon, we shall take it up with pleasure. From certain indications we assure him a sufficient cross will be provided and he will scarcely rise in three days either.

The Compromise.

The proposed compromise of the bullion tax question seems to be in a bad way. The present Legislature seems to remember the promises made to their constituents, and notwithstanding the really deserving condition of the Bonanza kings, our representatives refuse to impoverish the State for the benefit of California street. This is cruel treatment surely. The mines and their yield are of course in Nevada, but then they are the life of our State and should not be taxed. Had we never taxed the proceeds San Francisco would have contained a score more of fine buildings and Nevada would have drawn more foreign capital.

The proposed compromise will not lessen the revenues of the State, the Enterprise says, for the Comstock will be made to double its yield when the law passes. Our representatives should realize that there is no virtue in twenty million dollars if it won't exempt a man from taxation and act accordingly. We hope they will ponder upon this compromise. Don't pass any bills to facilitate the collection of this tax to prevent costs, but relieve these indigent kings, lest we have Mackay and Fair, Flood and O'Brien, wandering from door to door in search of bread. They have realized millions, of course, but we should not tax them, because our honest farmers can be made to pay their way, and we can have more dividends—for California.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Both political parties are on the anxious seat. The Republicans stand squarely on the Florida decision, insisting that it shall apply to Louisiana, and assert that the letter of the law is with them. They defend the character of the Returning Board, its right to sit with only four members and those all of one party, and all its acts; and they resist all looking into evidence as to the lawfulness of the Returning Board, its legal power to act at all or its legal power to act in the manner it did.

Both parties were depressed last night. No one pretended to guess how the case will be decided. Evarts closes for the Republicans to-day, and Campbell for the Democrats. This relates, of course, only to the question of admitting evidence. When the Commission has decided that, the argument on the main question of the Louisiana case will be resumed.

A Washington correspondent thinks the tribunal will hardly decide this week. The session closed with the most serious blunder of the day for the Republican speakers. The legal argument with which Judge Shellabarger had been opposing the introduction of evidence, closed with a vehement partisan appeal.

Booth's anti-railroad speech before the Senate yesterday is spoken of by the New York Tribune as a powerful one.

Governor Packard of Louisiana was shot in the knee yesterday by a stranger. The latter was shot in the arm by a bystander.

Evarts made a fine speech before the Electoral Commission yesterday. He occupied all the time allotted to the Republican counsel.

Yesterday's special to the Tribune from Washington says: It is very thoroughly understood here by Southerners, that Hagerman means, if he should become President, to cut adrift from the carpet baggers and make an alliance with the respectable party leaders of the South, and no doubt is felt here by leading Republicans of his ability to do so. Hagerman will give the Southern Federal offices to Southerners.

The New York Tribune says the present uncertainty has one excellent effect. No President can turn out all office-holders, good and bad together. Whether Hayes or Tilden come in there can only be gradual removals for cause. In other words, it is sure to be the beginning of practical civil service reform.

The Tribunal were in earnest yesterday in pushing business, and would have continued in session this evening after Shellbarger had closed, though they had been nine hours in session, with but thirty minutes rest, but Evarts not been too fatigued to proceed. They intend to finish the Louisiana case to-day, and present it to the House.

A Washington special says: The President will shortly give a farewell dinner to the members of his Cabinet. No other President ever had such an array of advisers as he has had during his eight years.

A bill has passed both Houses of the Dakota Legislature, and will be approved by the Governor, creating a regular judiciary system for the Black Hills, to go into effect immediately on ratification by Congress of the agreement with the Sioux Indians ceding that country. Emigration is rapidly increasing, and the season's work will be heavy.

FOREIGN.

Russia has abandoned the Servian cause as the price of Austria's acquiescence of assistance of Russian policy. It is probable Russia will not adopt a similar course toward Montenegro, but will put her forward as the champion of Turkish christians.

The Russian army is at Kirschenef, ready to move against the Turks. It numbers 120,000 infantry, 8,000 cavalry, and 428 guns. The two corps at Odessa would make the total of the army of the advance 180,000 infantry, 12,000 cavalry and 720 guns. One thousand horses have been bought for the train.

A dispatch has been received announcing another insurrection in Japan. The Satsuma clan have risen, but it is thought the movement will be easily suppressed, as the leading men of the clan disapprove of it.

A Rome dispatch of the 15th says: The interview between the Pope and the Emperor of Brazil was marked by extreme cordiality. The Emperor showed much emotion and threw himself at the feet of the Pope. The Empress was received with great kindness by the Holy Father.

The German Government is again considering the expediency of prohibiting the exportation of horses from Russia.

Germany's determination not to participate in the Paris Exhibition is irrevocable.

IMPROVED SCRIPTURES.—A nice young man of our acquaintance has lately turned his attention to reading the Bible. He does not like it. He does not object to the Book on any of the grounds raised by infidels or the "advanced thinkers," for he does not trouble his brains with that sort of thing. His objection is that the literature is old fashioned, and the names used are decidedly out of fashion. He says that no young lady of modern and delicate nerves, can be persuaded to read of the Deborahs, the Marthas, the Marys, the Ruths and all such names. He is going to revise the reading and have Debbie, Mattie, Mamie, Ruthie and so on, to figure. Then the work will become popular. "Delicate sensations to sensitive minds, you know," says our friend.—Grass Valley Union.

Jottings.

The English Opera Troupe which promised us a visit, is now in Carson.

E Meyers' bit cigars are simply immense.

Read R. M. Clark's second communication to the Appeal, on the first page.

Two little children got lost last night at the Riverside party. The distracted parents were nearly wild, and we had an ad. all written when the little ones were found out in the hall, "playing house" in Parkinson's overshoes.

Lost—One local reporter, slim and slender, with several items in his possession.

Do not fail to attend the Library meeting to-night at Judge Richardson's office.

A special meeting of the Riverside Club is called for Saturday evening at D. A. Dender & Co's bank.

This is Lent, so is our money.

TROUT are beginning to carry off hooks and lines.

John Courtney, stone-cutter, inserts his card to-day. He manufactures and is now engaged upon a fine piece of work for Mr. Hoffman of the Reno Brewery.

"DON'T SHOOT."—The night of the fire Dick Smith's magpie was in a state of mind bordering on lunacy. He hopped about, shrieked, swore, and tore his hair, because of the unusual excitement and noise, which he couldn't understand. He called Smith several times to explain matters, but he was busy and paid no attention to the bird. Finally a messenger who was guarding the treasure took up his shotgun and pointed it at the bird to pacify him. At this "Mag" uttered several shrill cries and fell over in a fit. He recognized a shot gun as his natural enemy. Dick says that the bird yelled: "Oh, Lord, I am shot," before falling, but we don't believe that.

Our Peaceful Town.

Reno is getting famous very fast, and her claims for immortality will be approved if she becomes the asylum for many more thieves. Last night there were no less than five attempts at robbery, showing that we are at least maintaining an industrious class of villains.

Last night, as W. H. Jones was walking up the track, he heard a quick clatter of feet behind him, and turning, saw two men running towards him. As the foremost one passed, the pursuer yelled "Stop the thief!" Jones, not being armed, did not care to interfere, and the two went past rapidly and out of sight.

Another citizen was followed home, and turning at the corner, waited for his pursuers. They in turn stopped, he then started towards them, whereupon the thieves took to their heels.

Harry Noyes' front room was broken open yesterday evening, and rifled of its contents. The thieves escaped without detection, and found nothing valuable to reward their villainy.

Saulsbury & Wetherill left a bundle of fishing-poles on the sidewalk last night, when an industrious tramp went for them and was only prevented by a passing citizen who took the property into Morris Ash's for safe keeping.

Charley Chase also had a visit last night from two thieves who attempted to come in at the back way, and were only frightened away by a small dog giving the alarm.

This state of affairs is getting rather monotonous, and the sooner it is abated the better. If our officers want to know who they are they will see them appear about nightfall; they are all fresh importations and seem by their well fed looks to be driving a thrifty trade. There is no blame to attach because of their coming; but we are to blame if we allow them to stay. Life and property, together with the peace of our town, demand that they seek other quarters.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.—Pursuant to notice to the stockholders in the Consolidated Poe Mining Company held a meeting in the District Court room to-day. His Honor, Judge Wright, presided, and Jno. S. Bowker acted as Secretary of the meeting. A calling of the roll showed 76,000 shares represented at the meeting, and the stockholders proceeded to business. By a unanimous vote of the stock represented, M. E. Morse and C. W. Farnham were removed from the Board of Trustees, and Wm. Duck and M. Lippman elected in their stead. The Board now consists of A. D. Griffin, Henry Ruhe, Wm. Duck and M. Lippman. The other vacancy will be filled by the Board at a meeting to be held this afternoon. The company have made satisfactory arrangements with their creditors and we hope they will succeed in the final settlement of all their claims.

GRAND LARCENY.—Complaint was made to-day before Justice Richardson, by A. J. Hatch, against one C. C. Brewer. The complainant alleges that Hatch employed Brewer to break some horses for him, out at the Smoke Creek ranch, and that he had general supervision of the property. Brewer cut the hay, and sold some $300 worth receiving pay therefor. He then mounted one of Hatch's horses, and taking the money with him, went to Susanville, where he devoted himself to the enjoyment of life in various ways. Money getting short, Brewer sold the horse, valued at $100, and continued to enjoy life upon the sum thus raised. Having occasion to come this way, he arrived in Reno, where Hatch, upon the above grounds, entered a complaint of grand larceny against Mr. Brewer, and he was lodged in jail. Today he was brought before Judge Richardson and his case laid over until to-morrow at 10 A. M., to allow Brewer to take counsel.

Elopement and Marriage.

This forenoon Justice Richardson was quietly seated in his office, when a young man was ushered into his Honor's presence, with a pleasant countenance, and a suspicious-looking certificate in his hand. A moment's consultation, and the young hero, with palpitating heart, escorted Justice R. to the International Hotel, where a blushing damsel of 18 Summers was impatiently awaiting their arrival. The marital ceremony was soon said, and two loving hearts beat as one. But the story is not thus briefly told. The romantic features of the affair throws a common marriage ceremony completely in the shade. Several months ago Julius Schwabenberg, a young man of 21 and an employee of the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad, at Nevada City, met and fell in love with Miss Martha Harrington of Colfax. As usual, all went smoothly on at first, but the course of true love was never designed to have wind and tide in its favor. Martha's parents are Catholics, and the "old man" wanted the ceremony, etc., to be said by the priest. He also had an idea of bossing matters generally. Julius could not quite stomach all this and resolved to elope with the fair one. Last Tuesday morning he happened to be in Colfax, and she happened to have occasion to go down town. They met and perfected the plans for a ride on the C. P. R. R. He returned to his post; she went home, and in the afternoon stepped out to see a neighbor, but the neighbor lived from a mile to three miles this side of Colfax. The old man grew suspicious and gave pursuit to his "lost" daughter. It was evening; she was on the qui vive, and heard him coming puffing up the road, mad as an enraged hornet. She stepped aside, and he went on. Wednesday passed serenely by, she at the neighbors and the father in full search. Thursday evening she came down to the Cape Horn fill, where she was met by her Julius, who had come up on the narrow gauge. Very soon along came the Eastern bound overland, and stopped to wet the locomotive whistle. The couple arrived 'ere this morning. Pete Comstock was soon interviewed, a marriage license procured, and the knot tied as we have stated. This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. S. went to Truckee, and thence further west in obedience to Horace Greeley's advice to young men.

TRUSTEE MEETING.—At the meeting of the Con. Poe Trustees held to-day the vacancy occasioned by H. H. Beck's resignation, was filled by the election of Geo. W. Cunningham. The new Board then organized by electing Wm. Duck, President; M. Lippman, Vice-President; B. F. Brown, Secretary, and Jas. H. Kinhead, Treasurer. The Board then levied an assessment of ten cents per share, delinquent in office March 16th, and authorized a notice cautioning people against the purchase of certain stock held by M. E. Morse. The Board then adjourned.

AN ANECDOTE OF SENATOR DAVIS. — Senator Davis, when he was a Judge, had a shrewd way of his own. Once at Indianapolis, which was within his circuit, a lawyer named Ketchum was ready when his case was called, but his opponent was absent and had sent word that he would not arrive for an hour or more. Ketchum insisted on proceeding with the case at once. The Judge remonstrated in favor of the absent lawyer, but to no purpose. "Well," said he finally, "if you insist upon going on, Mr. Ketchum, you have, of course the technical right to do so; but if I were you, I wouldn't urge the matter. Over at Springfield the other day, there was just such a case, the lawyer would insist upon going on with the trial; and so I had to look after the interest of the other party—and, do you know, curiously enough, Mr. Ketchum, we beat him." Mr. Ketchum concluded to wait.
